

Dancing All The Way

(Texas Sidestep)

Met a girl one night in an old town bar
Ordered an ice cold beer
While she was dancing and catching every light

She was shuffling in her tight blue jeans
In the corner of the bar
And the jukebox stood right next to me

I really wanted to know her name, but
I stayed there waiting for another song to play

Every move she makes, every step she takes
She's dancing like nobody else will do
Like a light that never fails to shine
Through the rain and storms she's dancing all the way

Last call, last chance, "pour me one for the road"
Grabbed a glass, lost sight
Of that angel and she's gone in a glance

It's been a while since she ever showed up here
I keep hanging around
N'waiting, for her to reappear

I drop another dime in the jukebox
Play another song and bring her back again

Every move she makes, every step she takes
She's dancing like nobody else will do
Like a light that never fails to shine
Through the rain and storms she's dancing all the way

Drop another dime in the jukebox
Play another song and bring her back again

Every move she makes, every step she takes
She's dancing like nobody else will do
Like a light that never fails to shine
She's a ghostly remain in your mind
Where she's dancing all the way
